PREFACE

There is hardly a good, easy and understandable book on Astrology in the market. So it is not just one of the many books from which you can pick and choose. It is perhaps the only book that you will find worth laying your hands on, if you are at all interested in the mystery of the stars and the influence they exert on your character and career; fate, fortune and future.

First: this book omits all such abracadabra of astrological jargon which is beyond the comprehension of the common reader. There is no fun in talking above your head. Everything here has been reduced to a plain and design which you will find not only intelligible but also intelligent.

Second: this book combines both the Eastern and the Western systems of Astrology. There are books following only the European system. There are other books dealing with only Hindu Astrology for tracing your past, present and future. This book combines both the systems and presents the barest facts before you for your easy understanding and digestion. What the writer could not understand himself, he paraphrased it for you. And what he could not understand himself, he omitted it.

Third: the author has tried to make something scientific out of the heaps of confused traditional lore of astrology. He has adopted and followed the scientific method. So that when you have finished with this book, you will be able to proceed further and apply the same scientific method to other books on astrology and thereby enhance the sphere of your valuable investigations.

Happy reader ! bon voyage !

THE SCIENCE OF STARS

Astronomy Grew out of astrology. Astrology is the mother of Astronomy and not Astronomy is the mother of Astrology. First Astronomers were Astrologers. They wanted to know the future with the help of the stars.

"Astronomy is the oldest of all the sciences", says Patrick Moore in Guide to the Planets. The truth is : not Astronomy but Astrology is the oldest of sciences. The ancient Hindu rishis who discovered both Astronomy and Astrology were first attracted to the stars astrologically and not astronomically.

Many thousands of years ago, when mastodons and mammoths still prowled the earth, and the civilizations of India, Egypt and China still lay in the far future, man looked up at the heavens to know their fate and future. The Sun, providing life-giving warmth, and the Moon, softening the darkness of the night, came to be regarded as gods. They were puzzled to see the tiny twinkling points of light, cold and remote, fading away with the light of dawn.

Sunrise of Sense

Gradually, knowledge grew. After studying night after night, because they had nothing else to do, they learnt to co-relate the movements of the stars with their earthly destiny. Since the Law of Unity and Uniformity of Nature prevails throughout the cosmos, they were able to investigate how their tiny movements are linked with the orbits of the stars and the planets. Astrology is not the investigation of one man or even one generation of men. It grew out of millions of years of star-gazing and occult knowledge, samadhi and tapasya.

It was realized that while the Sun and the Moon wandered about the sky, the stars remained fixed in the celestial vault. They only shared in the general daily rotation. So they came to have their names and their influence on human beings was well and carefully charted. The Hindus, the Greeks and the Romans gave them suitable names in their own respective languages.

The little planet that kept close to the Sun, quick-moving and difficult to see, was called Mercury, after the fleet-footed messenger of the God. The beautiful "evening star" was named in honour of Venus, the goddess of love. Mars, the god of war, gave his name to the red planet that glows in heaven like a drop of blood.

Jupiter, the king of the gods, was associated with the largest and the most important planet. The slow-moving planet that shone with dull yellowish light was named after Saturn. These, together with the Sun and the Moon, made up seven stars. As seven has always been a magical number of the ancients, the system was assumed to be complete.

From Sense to Science

The world's first greatest astrologers were Hindus. The world's first greatest astronomers were Chinese.

There is excellent evidence that an eclipse of the Moon was carefully observed both astrologically and astronomically as long ago as 1136 B.C., i.e., over a hundred years before the Trojan War. But the Hindus, the Chinese and the Greeks were more astrologers than astronomers. It was left to the Greeks to make the first speculations as to the nature and character of the heavenly bodies.

The story of Greek astronomy begins with the birth of Thales of Miletus in B.C. 624 and virtually ends with the death of Ptolemy of Alexandria in A.D. 180, so that it extends over a period of eight hundred years. It is quite long enough to effect a complete revolution in human outlook. Astronomy was never so popular as astrology. But it planted a seed that came to flower nearly two thousand years later. Copernicus and Kepler were the first great astronomers of the world.

It is a blow to our vanity to learn that the Earth is no more important cosmically than is a single sand-grain in the Sahara desert, but we have to accept the fact astronomically, which does not destroy the astrological thesis that the law of unity and uniformity prevails from the grain of sand in the Sahara Desert to the star in the desert of the heavens and so it operates in the fates and fortunes of human beings.

Astronomical distances are rather too much to appreciate. Though we talk in terms of millions of years, we cannot really understand what is meant. Yet the laws of astrology prevail and govern every square inch of space around us. They determine the hazards and accidents by hair-breadths. The stars in the heavens rule every minute of our lives.

There is a perfect analogy with a leisurely bee a few yards above the ground, and a high flying jet-aircraft several miles up. The bee's motion will be far more noticeable than the jet's even though there is as yet no record of any bee having undergone the experience of breaking through the sound barrier!

The King of Heavens

The Sun is King of the heavens. It is the unquestioned ruler of the Solar System. It provides the planets with warmth and light. Its powerful gravitational pull controls their movements. Without the sun the human race could not survive for a minute. Yet the other planets are not less important than the Sun astrologically. We have to consider the position of all to arrive at exact conclusions.

During recent years there is much talk about travel to the stars. But the idea is nothing new. The Hindu gods and souls abide on Sun, Moon and other Stars. As long ago as A.D. 160 a Greek writer Lucian, wrote a story about a voyage to the Moon which may be considered the true ancestor of the "science fiction." At that time, interplanetary travel was nothing more than a fantastic dream; but there is much fiction in science, and much science in fiction. If Astrology is astronomically false, Astronomy is astrologically false. These are two different sciences, although data is the same.

Birth of Earth

"The problem of how the Earth came into being", says Patrick Moore, "is a most fascinating one, and has always intrigued the minds of men." Ancient mythology abounds with stories about the Creation; for instance, the Iroquois Indians of North America believe that 'a heavenly woman was tossed out of Heaven, and fell upon a turtle, which grew into the Earth.' Unlikely as this idea seems, it is really no stranger than some of the theories which have been put forward in much more modern times.

"So long as it was believed that the Earth held a special position in the universe, no progress could be made. The problem of the birth of our own world is bound up with that of the formation of all other planets; once we know definitely how the Earth was created, we shall be well on the way to solve many of the mysteries of evolution."

"Unfortunately, we must admit that our ideas are still rather vague. No theory yet put forward can be considered really satisfactory; all we can do at the moment is to collect what evidence we have, and put the best interpretation of it."

So how far is Astronomy more advanced than Astrology? In either case we live in the golden domain of guesses and have to inch forward by careful calculations. There is neither haste nor waste. There is method even in the scientific madness which we apply to the science of fortune-telling by means of the stars.

Collision of Stars

As the stars governing our destiny come near or collide, so do our fate and fortunes.

"Space is very empty", says Patrick Morre, "It is true that the Sun, which is a perfectly ordinary star, is a vast body with a diameter of over three-quarters of a million miles; but if we represent it by a tennis ball, of its neighbours will be over a thousand miles away. Two mosquitoes flying about inside the Royal Festival Hall would be far more likely to collide than any two stars. Nevertheless, it is within the bounds of possibility that sometime in its history the Sun did pass dangerously close to another star; and such an encounter would have far-reaching effects, since the gravitational strain set up between the two bodies would be tremendous. Chamberlain and Moulton supposed that such an encounter did occur."

It was formerly believed that the Sun is gradually cooling down, and that all life on the Earth would eventually be frozen to death. But this view is now known to be wrong. As the Sun ages, it is steadily growing hotter. It is quite reasonable to assume that in the far future, thousands of millions of years ahead yet, our oceans will boil, our atmosphere will escape into space, and all earthly beings from the descendants of men (if any survive) down to the lowliest plant, will perish.

The two inner planets—Mercury and Venus, will be destroyed. Earth may share their fate. Mars may escape, but even Jupiter and Saturn, now bitterly cold, will be considerably heated. This state of affairs will not last long upon the cosmical scale, for the Sun's blaze will be its last defiant gesture of departing glory.

"In the remote past", says, Patrick Moore, "the Sun was responsible for the creation of the Earth; in the end, it will inevitably destroy its own child."

But we can predict even now astrologically that the human race will not perish. The entire humanity will be shipped to other stars and they will drag even the earth behind them like a floating garden on the Dal Lake of space!

BEWARE OF BOGUS ASTROLOGERS!

Out of the hundred astrologers you come across only one who knows anything about astrology ! Most of them are money-makers who ply their trade for fishing out their living. They have a right to exist in this cruel world. Swami Dayanand has drawn a correct picture of these astrologers in Satyartha Parakasha :-

And when they go to a planet-influenced, planet-inform, a shadow of an astronomer (astrologer), and say "Sir, what ails him (the child)?"

He says : "He is under the influence of the Sun and other malevolent stars. If you offer worship and charity for their appeasement, then he can recover, otherwise there is nothing strange if the disease grows more serious and proves fatal."

Answer : Well, Mr. Astrologer, just as this earth is inanimate, so are bodies such as the Sun , etc. They can do nothing beyond giving light, heat etc. Are they living beings that give pain when angry, and pleasure when satisfied ?

The Prince and the Peasant

Question : Is it not due to stars that the prince and the peasant are happy or miserable in this world ?

Answer : No, they are all due to their good or bad deeds.

Question : Is then the science of astronomy (Astrology) spurious ?

Answer : No, whatever pertains to arithmetic, algebra and geometry in it, is all right. But whatever pertains to fruit, is all false.

Horoscope or Pathoscope ?

Question : Is this horoscope also fruitless ?

Answer : Yes it is not horoscope ; you should call it pathoscope (not a document of birth but that of miseries). When a child is born, all feel happy. But this happiness lasts only till they get the horoscope and learn the effect of stars. When the priest offers to prepare the horoscope, the father and the mother make a request : "Sir, make it a very auspicious horoscope."

If the family is well-to-do, then the horoscope is beautified in red and yellow ; and if poor, then it is made plain.

Then the parents sit before the astrologer and ask : "the horoscope a auspicious one?"

The astrologer replies : "Whatever it is, I am reading. His birth Stars are very good. So are his friend stars. The effect is that he will be prosperous and respectable. In whatever society he will move, he will command distinction. He will be physically sound and honoured by the King."

The parents hear such complimentary sentences and say : "You are very good, "Mr. Astrologer."

The Astrologer thinks that this will not do, so he says "These stars are all right ; but such and such stars are malevolent ! There is a possibility of death in the eighth year of his life, under the combination of these stars."

The parents on hearing these words forget the joy of the child-birth and sink into the ocean of sorrow. They address the astrologer thus :

"What, Sir, should we do now ?"

Mr. Astrologer replies : "Do something."

The Astrologer offers a solution : "Give such and such things in aims. Get recited the formula of the stars and feed the Brahmins regularly. Then we conjecture that the malevolence of the planets might be counteracted."

Conjecture Future ?

The use of the word "conjecture" is deliberate. If the child dies, they would say, "What shall we do ? There none above God. We did all that was possible. You too got done all that you could. It was predetermined by his merits and demerits."

If the child is saved, they say : "Behold, what a great power there is in our mystic formulae ! Gods and Brahmins ! They saved your son."

What should be really done is this : If their incantations prove ineffective, then the scoundrels should be compelled to pay double or treble the amount in penalty. And if the child is saved, then also the same thing should be done.

Just as the astrologer says that there is none above God, and His laws, so should the parents say, that the child is saved on account of his past actions and God's ordainment and not through your intervention.

Thirdly, there are (spiritual) preceptors, etc. who cheat in a similar manner. They should also be dealt with like astrologers.

Grand Demon of Gurudom

"Guru or preceptor", says Ganga Prasad Upadhyaya, "is a noble name but it has been much degenerated and is used for those so-called spiritual gurus who are no gurus at all. In India it is a belief that no man gets salvation unless he has had a guru. The basis of this superstition appears to be that a spiritual guide is necessary to help a man in spiritual practices. But this guru whispers into the ears of his disciple a mystic formula and there ends his whole business. Hence forward, it becomes the duty of the disciple to present the guru with periodical gifts. Thus the guru does nothing but collecting taxes and enjoying them. No teaching ! no instruction ! no guidance !"

ASTROLOGY AND PALMISTRY

"Astrology" says Sibly, the British Astrologer, "is a celestial science that treats of the doctrine of the stars, for the use of and benefit of man, and it proved by daily observation and experience, that the fate of every person is not only written in the heavens at the time of their births, but also stamped and marked in the face and hands of every man. The one is called Physiognomy; the other Chiromancy or Palmistry— so that the fate of every individual is, viz, first in the heavens, secondly, in their faces, and thirdly, in their hands."

Starry Lines and Signs

Some lines and signs on the hands point to the influence of stars on the life of a man. Some of these are the following :-

1. Via Solis or the Sun's way.
2. Via Luctea, or Milky way.
3. Via Saturnia or Saturn's way.

4. Cingulum Veneris or the Girdle of Venus.
5. Via Martis or the way of the Mars.
6. Mons Veneris or the Mound of Mars.
7. Cavea Martis or the Cave of Mars.
8. Mons Jovis or the Mount of Jupiter.
9. Mons Saturn or the Mount of Saturn.
10. Mons Solis or the Mount of Sun.
11. Locus Lunae, or the place of the Moon.
12. Mons Mercuri, or the Mount of Mercury.

One of the most puzzling questions of palmistry is whether we should see the right hand or left hand of the person for the sake of palmistry. Cheiro believes that we should see the right hand of men and left hand of women. This view is held by most of the palmists. But Astrology provides a better answer. It is strange that palmists have not consulted astrologers in this important aspect of the entire thesis of palmistry.

It is certain that in one hand the lines and other signs are very often manifest, and more plainly to be seen than in the other hand. This is true for both of the hands of gentlemen and ladies. The question arises: Should in both sexes the right or left hand be taken ? Or should we consider the right hand of a gentleman and left hand of a lady ?

Sibly provides a cogent answer : That hand which exhibits the lines thereof most clearly, and abounds with a series of characters and signs, yet so, as that the other whose lines are more obscure, may pay its contribution. If in both hands they consent and appear to be fair and comely, they declare consistancy of fortune and health. The cause of which diversity is this : he, who, is born in the day time and hath a masculine planet (the Sun, Saturn, Jupiter or Mars) lord of his geniture, bears the more remarkable signs in his right hand especially when the ascending sign is also masculine. The contrary happens to them that are born by night as a feminine planet predominates. If both hands agree, it must be that in a diurnal nativity the feminine planets rule ; or that there is a mixture of masculine and feminine ; so in the night by the contrary reason, which diversity must necessarily be observed."

Influence of Stars

The influence of planets can be known from their lines and signs on the hands. If they are happy and benevolent, good things are expected. If these are unhappy and forward, evil is protended. The planets are auspicious when the character of lines and signs is benevolent. The planets are unfortunate when their lines and signs on the hand are deformed, uncouth and troubled.

The Mount of Venus shining well with a star or furrows that are red make a person merry, cheerful and luxurious. Just and honest, with him friendship is permanent. She renders the body somewhat tall ; the eyes beautiful, sparkling, alluring and tempting. She instils a spotless and noble mind

A good mount of Mars denotes a person who is bold, stout, warlike, contentious strong and lusty.

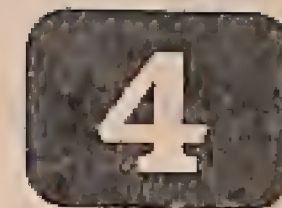

The Mount of Jupiter is fortunate when it has a star or a double cross, parallel lines, or a line well-drawn. It denotes persons who are noble, honest, benevolent, merry, just, beautiful, formidable and happy. They have comely eyes, thick hair and a grave gesture.

The mount of Saturn is happily placed when the line of saturn runs in the region. It makes men silent, provident, wise, sorrowful, studious and ambitious.

A good Mount of Sun makes man faithful, ingenious, honoured, high-minded, wise, human, religious, just, moderate and sagacious.

The Mount of Moon, happy and fortunate, makes man famous, honest, and honourable. The body is large and well-proportioned.

The Mount of Mercury, happy and fortunate makes man ingenious, serious of science, and seeking after secrets. It makes men good orators, poets, philosophers, merchants, mathematicians, fortunetellers and astrologers.

POPULAR PROFITABLE PERIODS

The day of the week on which you were born is best for all purposes. Try to organize your greatest activities on that day. Your actions, attempts and endeavours on your birthday of the week are likely to bear good fruits and happy results.

Lucky Letters

It is lucky to receive a letter on the third, fifth or ninth of the month, or on Tuesday or Saturday.

New Undertaking

The first week in May is fortunate to men for a new undertaking. The second week of may is fortunate to women.

Marriage Month

June is good month to contract for a marriage, or promise for a marriage. It generally prospers.

Woman's Thirty-First Year

It has often been recorded, and experience has so shown it to be true that some event of importance is true to happen to a woman in her thirty-first year, whether single or married. It may prove her good or she may fall in great evil or temptations. Therefore, let her be cautious and circumspect in all her actions.

If she is a maiden or a widow, it is probable that she marries this year.

Man's Forty-First Year

Forty-first year is important for men in their life-time. Some important event—very good or very bad, happens to them. A man has to chart his actions very carefully in his forty-first year.

In my forty-first year I resigned my permanent post as a professor and decided to return to writing for my living and depend entirely upon it. It had both good and bad effects. In any case, it helped me to build a house of my own in New Delhi, which I could not have done, had I stayed back as a professor outside Delhi.

Moon Month

The three first days of the Moon are the best for signing papers. The first five days and the twentyfourth are most suitable for any fresh undertaking.

Week Days

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays are best for men.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays are best for women.

Travel

To travel by land choose the increase of the moon. For a voyage by sea choose decrease of the moon.

Choose full moon for writing letters in which you ask for a favour.

Marriage on Birthday

It is not good for a woman to marry on her birthday. On the contrary, marriage on birth-day is fortunate for men.

Naming Ceremony

It is good to christain a child on the day of the week in which he/she was born.

Fortunate Birthday

If is fortunate to be born on a Sunday. My daughter Rosie was born on Sunday.

Luck and Pluck

"But it must be allowed", says Sibly, "that people's industry and perseverance often overcome a bad planet, or a day marked unlucky in the book of fate."

DRAWING A HOROSCOPE

Drawing a horoscope is very complex and complicated process. You must not hope that you can draw your horoscope perfectly with the aid of any book. It requires training and experience of many years.

The simple method has been set forth by the British astrologers are as follows :-

"Ascertain the exact time and the hour in which you were born, procure a Moore's almanack of that year, to direct you to the sign that then reigned, the name of the planets, and the state of the moon ; observe whether the Sun was just entering the sign, whether it was near the end, or what was its particular progress ; if at the beginning, your fate will be strongly tinged with its properties, moderate at the meridian and slightly if the Sun is nearly going out of the sign ; then judge the planets by the introduction of the book. Write down the day of the week, see whether it is lucky day or not, the state of the moon, the nature of the planets and the influence described next, and you will ascertain your future destiny with very little trouble."

The Zodiac

The Zodiac is an imaginary circle in the heavens showing position of the Sun and the stars in the heavens. It is an imaginary belt in the heavens in the middle of the Sun's path.

The Zodiac is divided into twelve parts and they are named as follows :

English Name	Sanskrit Name	Lord of the House
1. Aries	Mesha	Mars or Kuja
2. Taurus	Vrishaba	Venus or Sukra
3. Gemini	Mithuna	Mercury or Budh
4. Cancer	Karkitaka	Moon or Chandra
5. Leo	Simha	Sun or Ravi

9. Sagittarius	Dhanus	Jupiter or Guru
10. Capricorn	Makara	Saturn or Sanl
11. Aquarius	Kumbha	Saturn or Sanl
12. Pisces	Meena	Jupiter or Guru

King and Queen

The Sun is the King of the Universe because it indicates time, seconds, minutes, hours, days, weeks, months and years. The Universe is directed by the Sun

The Moon is the Queen of the skies. The Sun rules the day and the Moon rules the night.

When Sun and Moon become rulers of the day and night, the Sun occupies house no. 5 and the Moon occupies house no. 4 in the Zodiac.

The Royal Prince

Mercury is the Royal Prince. The King and the Queen give Mercury house no. 3 and 6.

Minister of Foreign Affairs

Venus is the Minister of Foreign Affairs to the King and the Queen. He gets the house no. 2 and 7.

Minister of Defence

Mars is the Minister of Defence. He gets the house no. 1 and 8.

Prime Minister of Heavens

Jupiter is the Prime Minister of the Heavens. He gets the house no. 9 and 12.

Royal Philosopher

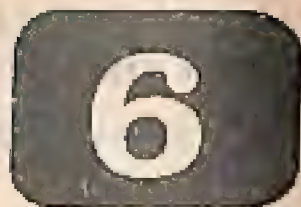

Saturn is the Royal Philosopher. He gets the house no. 10 and 11.

Government of Gods

"The 12 signs or 12 houses (Rasis)", say Sree K.R.Veeraragava Iyer in The Essence of Indian Astrology, "are the controllers of our life in every aspect of its activities in relation to our environments and mental aptitudes. The planets have peculiar characteristics of their own independently of the signs. Human body is divided into 12 divisions corresponding to 12 signs of the Zodiac which divisions constitute a complete enumeration of all the organs of Kala Purusha. The head, face, shoulders, chest, stomach, the portions below the naval, the private parts, buttocks, the thighs, the knees, and the feet, 12 concepts of division of the body corresponding to the 12 signs beginning with Mesha (Aries) and ending with Meena (Pisces)."

Proper Horoscope

For a proper horoscope you have to study these signs, their time and applications, which will be discussed in the following chapters.

SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC

The signs of the zodiac determine your birth-date. Your birth-date is determined by the signs of the Zodiac. Every Zodiac sign determines the fate and fortune of those who are born between a certain period of the year, including both the dates.

For example, if you were born on March 21st or April 20th or any date between these two dates, your sign of Zodiac is Aries.

Determine your Sign of Zodiac from the following chart.

Dates and Fates

Sign	Birth-date
1. Aries	March 21st to April 20th
2. Taurus	April 21st to May 20th

SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC

3. Gemini	May 21st to June 20th
4. Cancer	June 21st to July 20th
5. Leo	July 21st to August 21st
6. Virgo	August 22nd to September 22nd
7. Libra	September 23rd to October 22nd

The sign gives an amorous disposition to both the sexes. If Venus or Mercury presides at birth, they will love variety. The new moon is excellent to the woman and full moon to the man. home or abroad.

Signs and Symbols

The above signs indicate natural and ordinary creatures. The distinctive natures of the above animals or creatures correspond with the qualitative appearance of the signs.

Meena stands for fish whose abode is water. Simha signifies its habitation in the cave or wild forests. The other signs indicate their residences with deference to their names.

"The names", says Sree K.R.Veeraragav Iyer, "are found to have an inn significance corresponding to the special qualities and attributes which they are believed to possess."

ALL ARIES ATTAINMENTS

The Aries people are those who are born between March 21st to April 20th. The sign is known as Mesha in Indian Astrology. The Lord of this House of the Zodiac is Mars or Kuja.

The Zodiacal Sign of Aries is in full strength from March 27th to April 19th.

Iron Will

People born in this sign are people of iron will. They have great deal of grit and determination to achieve the objects of their life. They are born fighters and have great obstinacy of purpose. They do not yield easily against a mountain of troubles.

Big Business Builders

The Aries people are big business builders. They cannot plan some works. They show the greatest ability as a big organizers. They often become the heads of big enterprises. They make good generals and rulers.

They are contemptuous of critics. But they can be persuaded to do anything by patient logic and reason. They will not submit to the authority of others because they are authoritrian themselves.

Independent Individualism

The aries people are devoted to nothing more than independent individualism. They love to do their things in their own way. They resent unnecessary interference. It is always best to leave them alone and watch their performance from distance. They realize their faults and foibles fast enough. Then they waste no time in rectifying themselves.

This too much of self-conscious individualism is often responsible for their unhappy domestic lives. They seldom get life-partners who will adjust themselves easily to their defiant character. The road lies to separation unless they are willing to make sacrifices for happy home and children, which they often do.

The Inchcape Rock

It is important that the Aries people should make large sacrifices for a happy married life, because affection is the main demand of their inner nature and they long for it intensely. If they do not make right adjustments, their whole career is likely to be shipwrecked.

With affection assured in the background, there is no achievement beyond their easy reach. They have the golden grit to achieve anything anywhere. They are good earners and not bad spenders. Money is a secondary thing in their lives.

Danger of Flattery

Their greatest danger is love of flattery. They love self-admiration and soon become proud of little achievements which prevent them from great attainments of life. They are full of new dreams and novel schemes but these often come to nought once they rise one ladder of success and flattery crowds round them as bees round a honey-pot.

Often they lack caution. They are impulsive in thought and action. Often they go to extremes where the middle course is the best. They seldom see the virtue of Buddha's golden mean. No doubt they make enemies in life.

Aries are Ambitious !

The Aries people are very much ambitious. They succeed considerably, although they fall by their own standards of life. They achieve good positions and amass sufficient wealth for a happy carefree life.

They are great disciplinarians and enforce a sense of duty in the home and in the office. But they seldom understand the ways of women and often make great mistakes. They often suffer from ill-health due to hard work. They need nothing more badly in life than sound sleep every passing night to guarantee them good health and happiness.

Colours and Stones

The most suitable colours for them are all shades of red, such as crimson, scarlet, pink and rose.

In ill health the most soothing colours for them are all shades of blue and violet.

The birth-stones suitable for them are blood-stones, garnets and rubies.

THE TAURUS TITANS

The Taurus of Zodiac is known as Vrishabha in Indian Astrology. Its presiding deity is Venus or Sukra. It influences the career and character of those who are born from April 21st to May 20th.

The Zodiac sign of Taurus has its fullest effect from April 27th to May 20th.

Desire to Dominate

The Taurus people suffer from an insatiable desire to dominate. They have iron wills and unyielding determination. Their stiffness of attitudes and platitudes often creates wanton opposition which need not have been there if they had used some tact and diplomacy.

But love and affection can make them as flexible as rubber. They are like Queen Elizabeth First who commanded when she requested and she requested.

when she commanded. Her request to her ministers was a command which meant death in case of disobedience. Her command to her lovers was only a request.

Power of Patience

The Taurus people have a great power of endurance. They can suffer greatly and large-heartedly. They have great physical and mental forbearance. They can put up with an infinite fatigue while their interest is sustained. But when it flags, they are nowhere.

To entertain their friends is a joy of their lives. They make wonderful hosts and hostesses. They have great taste for good. In the management of their houses, they can make much out of little.

They love to dress well and look well. They hate to be unsocial. They look richer than they are and make many friends in many walks of life.

Golden Gifts

The Taurus people are men of many golden gifts. They make good scholars and excellent writers. Their memories are sharp and brilliant. They can commit books to memory. But they are too sociable to be able to pay proper attention to the flowering of their genius. Society claims much of their time, energy and attention.

They are governed by their sensations and social considerations. They are more affectionate than passionate. They willingly sacrifice the love of luxury for the luxury of love. So they make excellent directors but do not amass much wealth.

THE TAURUS TITANS

Friends and Foes

The Taurus people make good friends and good foes. They will spill their blood for their friends but will not hit an enemy below the belt. In love they are generous to the last. In enmity they are chivalrous and brave.

They will make any sacrifice for the people whom they are devoted. Against enemies they fight with the greatest and the grandest determination. "But", says Cheiro, "they always fight in the open, for they hate trickiness, double-dealing or deceit."

Marry Late

The Taurus people are advised to marry late after due consideration of all the factors and the method of trial and error. An early, hasty and sentimental marriage will not be to their advantage, because it will inevitably lead them to separation or divorce.

"Neither men nor women born in this period should marry early; their first marriage is usually a mistake."

Think Alone

They must think alone and take serious decisions away from the dust and din of the madding crowd, because others easily influence their decisions and make them do things against their interests and best judgement.

Their greatest weakness is an exhibition of temper and violent disposition which they very much regret after the storm has blown over. So they inspire love and devotion to their leadership.

They make good government officers, doctors and nurses. They make good gardeners and farmers because of their great passion for flowers and nature. They make good poets, artists, and musicians, because they love harmony, colour and rhythm.

Colours and Stones

All shades of blue are their favourite colours. They should not use red as far as possible because it excites them like a red rag the bull.

Their fortunate stones are turquoises, lapis lazuli and emeralds.

It comes into full power on May 28th and its full strength lasts up to June 20th.

Dual Character

People born in Gemini have the character of the Twins who symbolize this sign of the Zodiac.

They are dual in character and characteristics, mind and mentality. The duality of their nature is always at tug-of-war, pulling in opposite directions. Their brains are brilliant but their determination is divided.

Difficult Duality

Because of their duality, they are difficult to understand. They exhibit lack of continuity in their deeds and dreams. Little wonder, they are tough guys and difficult to understand. They are like Jekyll and Hyde—two different persons in one body.

They are hot and cold almost at the same time. Also they blow hot and cold. They are generous to a fault but also pennywise, pound foolish. They save in dribblets but pour out their life's savings in one bowl. They love with one side of their mind the very people they dislike with the other.

Dual Difficulty

They are mentally very keen but physically very indolent. They are impulsive occasionally but inertia sits heavy on them otherwise. They plan an earthquake silently and sleepily. They move in jerks and work in jolts.

They dazzle with brilliance but they are not excellent in diplomacy. Their intelligence is flashy. They produce more heat than light. They leave the people sadder than wiser.

"They seldom themselves know what they want to achieve", says Cheiro. "At heart they are ambitious for social position; but when obtained they are already tired of it, and are ready to go in for something else, or for something totally opposite."

Dual Delights

The Gemini people are persons of dual delights. They know how to give pleasures and how to take pleasures. They are never selfish in their enjoyments. They seek happiness by making others happy; but often leave behind only trail of sadness for themselves and others. They are the most misunderstood people.

No one should expect them to be constant in their endeavours without inspiring them or perspiring them. They feel the pressure of loneliness more than anything else in the world. They are truthful, faithful and constant. They are sad when their friends do not exhibit these qualities.

Delighted Duals

They are restless and always busy doing something or the other. They make intelligent lawyers and lecturers, actors and orators, politicians and public speakers. They play many roles in the drama of life. They make an outstanding success of whatever they undertake.

In affairs of the heart, they can love passionately and constantly; but they cannot tolerate deceit and cheating. They analyze themselves and others brutally. They forget everything but forget nothing. In politics they love individuals rather than parties. They have no ideological affiliations.

Stones and Colours

Their fortunate colours are rosy and glistening white.

GEMINI GIANTS

Their fortunate birth-stones are diamonds, glittering jewels, sapphires and red cornelians.

CANCER CHARACTERISTICS

The Zodiacal sign of Cancer is known as Karkitaka in Indian Astrology. The Lord of this House is Moon or Chandra. It holds its sway on all those who are born from June 21st to July 20th.

The Zodiac sign of Cancer is in full strength from June 28th to July 20th.

"The sign of Cancer or the Crab", says Cheiro, "was so called by the ancients because the Sun at this time of the year appears to advance and retreat in the heavens like the actions of a crab."

Restless Roamers

The Cancer people have deep abiding home interests but they are restless roamers. They go in search of peace they do not find at home. They return home for peace they do not find abroad. They are homing pigeons, both restless at home and at-home abroad. Like crabs they advance and they retreat!

"They are always making homes, rarely keeping them, and usually have more than the usual trouble in the homes they do succeed in making and in their domestic life."

Money Matters

They rarely do well in money matters and have hard time in keeping their heads above water. They have many ups and downs in life. They are inclined to speculate but seldom do well in financial gambling. They can earn their living only through honest hard work.

They are industrious and hard-working but luck seldom favours them. They live in a state of perpetual crisis from day to day.

The Cancer people are gifted with strong imagination. They make good writers, artists and musicians. They are of a loving disposition and their themes are romantic.

They repay confidence with confidence. They are honest to honest employers. They never shirk work and are always ready to put forth their brightest best in their professional activities.

They are very sensitive people and if their efforts are not appreciated, they get depressed and melancholy. For success in life they require appreciation, admiration and encouragement.

They dabble in occult and often make excellent psychics. They usually have a yearning after the mysterious and the miraculous.

Crab like Career

They should marry late in life to avoid the pitfalls of emotional changes in their life.

Their character and career is like that of a crab. They advance and retreat both in work and emotions. When they reach a certain stage in life, they surprise their friends and families by turning back to old ideas and professions which they had left behind a decade before! They often stop and turn back at most critical points.

Great Dreamers

The Cancer people are great dreamers and do not see the great gulf between deeds and dreams. They gain pinnacles of fame and dazzling light of publicity but are seldom happy at home and at heart. They often go through a great deal of domestic trouble.

They evolve great schemes for the welfare of others but at home and at heart they are cynical. They are considered cold and unemotional because they are not demonstrative. Actually they possess deeply affectionate dispositions.

Colours and Stones

The most harmonious colours for their nature are green and creamy white.

CANCER CHARACTERISTICS

The lucky birth-stones for them are diamonds, pearls, crystals, opals and moonstones.

LITTLE LEO LIONS

The zodiacal sign of Leo is known as Simha in Indian Astrology. The lord of this house is Sun or Ravi. Those born from July 21st to August 21st are influenced by this constellation of stars.

Leo comes into full power on July 28th and it remains in full strength until August 20th.

Room on the Top

The Leo people always try to get above the common herd of humanity. They believe like Webster that there is "Room enough on the top."

They are strong personalities attracted to strong personalities. They forgive any fault or foible except a colourless individuality and want of purpose. They do not represent the brain-force of humanity. But they do symbolize the heart-force of mankind.

Friends and Foes

"They are overflowing with sympathy and are generally generous to a fault. They will defend a friend in the face of million foes, and disloyalty and deceit are the only things that can break their great hearts."

"They are themselves exceptionally truthful and honest, but they often get terribly deceived, and have a tendency in the end to become bitter, severe and over-critical."

Gold of Love

They crave for the gold of love far above the love of gold!

Money comes to them fairly easy but it does not make them happy if they do not find appreciation from those they have reason to expect.

They have the unique gift of inspiring and perspiring others for noble ends. They become leaders and lords of mankind. They can never play the second fiddle in life. They can lead their men through fire and water. They make good commanders and military generals.

They are intensely proud and easily wounded. They are very sensitive to passing shades of opinion. They cannot brook those who are not large-hearted and generous in their company. They make benevolent dictators and great controllers of organizations.

Independent Spirit

They are people of independent nature and nature. They detest being dictated to. If you want the best out of them, leave them alone. They have great tenacity of purpose and will-power. If once they set their mind upon a plan, they do usually manage to achieve it. They often reach their objectives despite all hurdles and handicaps.

If they fail in life despite their best efforts, they become melancholy and morbid. But they never give up the battle of life. Often the fight hoping against hopes. They love to die fighting.

Like a Lion

"As a rule they are extremely patient and long-suffering, but if once roused, like the lion, they know no fear and do not even know when they meet defeat or acknowledge it when they do."

Their leonine frankness often reaps for them a crop of enemies. They cannot tolerate corruption of underhand dealings. They hate anything which is not honourable. They have great patience and deadly determination to overcome all opposition. Their will power is outstanding.

Professions

They make excellent soldiers and leaders in social struggles. They are good public men and supporters of lone causes. They are lions of patriotism and furious fighters for freedom. "Quit-India" Movement launched on August 8th, 1942 had the qualities of Leo in it. It heralded the birth of Indian Independence again on August 15, 1947 which was in the Zodiacal Sign of Leo!

Colours and Stones

Colours in harmony with Leo people are all shades of orange, green, yellow, white and pale.

The fortunate birth-stones are rubies, topaz and amber.

Some Famous Leo People

George Bernard Shaw	July 26th.
Benito Mussolini	July 29th.
Alexander Dumas	July 28th.

VIRGO VIRTUES

The Zodiacal sign of Virgo is known as Kanya in Hindu Astrology. The ruling lord of this house is Mercury or Budh. It exercises a great influence on the fate and fortune of those who are born from August 22nd to September 22th.

The constellation comes into full power near about August 29th and remains in full strength until September 20th.

Success Guaranteed

Success in life is guaranteed to those who are born in Virgo. They seldom fail in their careers. Whatever they touch turns into gold, provided they are sincere about their efforts and do not laze and daze about, because people born in this period are likely to be indolent; but once they are up, they move with the jerks of an earthquake, pushing everything before them.

VIGRO VIRTUES

They have keen intellects and very good sense of discrimination. In all business matters they have very good judgement. They cannot be easily doped, duped and deceived.

Their views of life are usually money-minded and materialistic. They look at every adventure from the angle of immediate advantages; and so they often miss the distant view of long-term benefits. They gladly sacrifice today for tomorrow; but thereafter they will sacrifice nothing.

Literary Lore

The Virgo people have great love for literature and make good literary critics. They seldom create great literature; but they have very great appreciation of great literature. They often stimulate the literary genius in others without exhibiting it themselves to any great degree.

They love rhythm and harmony in life and the world about them. They have excellent taste about personal dress, habits and interior decoration. They want their environment exquisite and elegant. They appreciate good taste in themselves as well as others.

They are not originators but successful executors of plans that appeal to their imagination. They can bring to completion the works that others have left unfinished.

They are fastidious about their personal appearance, have a great respect for rank and position, and are great supporters of the law and law's decisions."

Professions

They make great lawyers and successful debaters. They succeed well in business when they apply their imagination to it. They make magnificent professors who hold their classes spellbound.

They have no novel ideas about business but achieve success by sheer dint of industry, industrious imagination rather than imaginative industry. Their industrious persistence is a golden key to their success in life.

They are often wrapped up in themselves and altruistic enterprises do not very much appeal to them. They do not dislike what is selfishness because selfless pursuits seldom appeal to their solid practical imagination.

Wit and Wisdom

The Virgo people have their wit and wisdom about them. They are self-possessed and self-reliant. Their love for money is not for its own sake but for the creature comforts it brings to them. So they often do not mind sacrificing monetary advantages for the sake of creature comforts.

They are not easy to understand. The best and the worst of humanity is born in Virgo. They are psychic virgins of the virgin soil. On the whole they are virtuous and pure-minded.

They are very refined in their tastes about food and about dress. If eatables are not served nicely, they might well lose their appetite.

The most harmonious colours for them are pale shades and silvery shimmering materials.

Their fortunate stones are diamonds, pearls, and emeralds.

LIBERAL LIBRA LOTUSES

The Zodiacal sign of Libra is known as Thula in Hindu Astrology. The Lord of this house is Shukra or Venus. It exercises tremendous influence on the character and career of all those who are born on or between September 23rd and October 22nd.

The constellation comes into full play on or about September 28th. Thenceforward it is in full strength until October 20th.

Positive People

The Libra-born are positive people and decisive in their plans and programmes. They do not dilly-dally. There is no hanky-panky about them. They are men and women of sight, foresight and farsight. They love at first sight. They act on first impressions.

They are given to occult and very psychic in their pursuits. They are devout and devoted spiritualists. They have curious presentiments and make good mediums. Inly and outly they make good occultists and spiritualists.

Balanced Brothers

The Libra people belong to the fraternity of balanced brothers. They have great guessing powers and make successful speculators; but little value they attach to monetary gains. Monetary pursuits does not drive them in this direction. On the contrary they prefer professions in which they have to work hard both mentally and physically.

They have great ups and downs in life; but these they actually invite themselves on themselves. A steady routine life is unattractive to them and bores them. They are more interested in psychic balance of their lives than any outward ammassing of pelf, power and possessions.

They have an uncanny power for roaching at the truth in a tanglewood of confusion. Little wonder, many of them make successful lawyers and judges.

Thirst for Knowledge

They have a great thirst for knowledge far above anything else in the world. Often they spend their lifetime in study and research in some particular subject. They weigh and balance facts and data in the most conscientious manner before writing their doctrines and theses. Their study and research inspires confidence and gives a vision to humanity across the threshold the corridors of the future.

In all their studies there is weight, seriousness, thoughtfulness and balance. They usually succeed in whatever line they adopt, because they are used to hard work and hard thought. In medical practice they are no general practitioners but rather specialists.

Marriage Muddle

They are so much given to individualism and inner vision and psychic contemplation that it is no wonder if they make a mess of their married lives unless their partner is also like-minded or sympathetic to their bent of mind.

In the domestic life they are seldom happy, because the call of the unknown always bids them from their familiar bearings. They weigh and balance affections of the body against affections of the spirit.

"They perhaps forget", says Cheiro, "that the wings of love are not made for the lens of the microscope, and so they seem to court disillusion and disappointment in advance."

They have a large circle of friends and devotees and domestic life cannot claim much of their time and energy. So their families are equally disappointed with them. They do not crave for the peace and happiness of the home life. For them the entire mankind is one family and the world one single home. Little wonder, they are unpopular with their near and dear ones.

Colours and Stones

The most favourable colours for them are all shades of violet, blue, purple and mauve.

Their lucky birth-stones are pearl and opal.

SIMPLE SCORPIO SAGES

The Zodiacal sign of Scorpio is known as Vrishchiga in Hindu Astrology. The Lord of this house is Kuja or Mars. The sign influences the career, character and course of life of all those who are born on or between October 23rd and November 22nd.

The astrological constellation comes into full power on or about October 28th. Thereafter it is in full strength until November 20th.

In the West the sign is represented by two symbols, the Scorpion and the Eagle. In the East it is represented only by the Scorpion. This reptile is regarded a sage in Hindu mythology.

Contradictory Character

The Scorpio people have contradictory characters. Their minds are the battle fields of the best and the worst. Both good and evil, vice and virtue, come flooding in their lives.

In their childhood such people are found to be devoted and of high spiritual aspirations. But later in life, some sudden jerk or jolt can veer them round in just the opposite direction. The greatest saints end up as greatest sinners or vice versa. Maharishi Valmiki belonged to this category.

Key of Emotions

High emotionalism is the keynote of their character. They are quintessentially sentimental folk, as quick to fight as to forget and forgive. Little wonder, they have great magnetic powers on the circle of their friends who admire their sincerity, truthfulness and enthusiasm for great causes and crusades.

Their appeal is more to the heart than to the head. They appeal to the emotions and sentiments of the people. They do not bank upon logic and arguments for swaying the audience.

They are also highly emotional and coloured in their writings. Their literary art is dramatic. They are versatile in their talents.

Cool in Crisis

The Scorpio people are found to be cool as cucumbers in moments of high crisis. The scorpion shows no nervousness in danger. It has the patience of yogi. Little wonder, Scorpio doctors are found to be the best surgeons for delicate surgery.

They are easily influenced by the atmosphere and the people around them. With the virtuous they are virtuous. With the wicked they become wicked. They are always on the flood-tide of emotions and swim coolly from crisis to crisis.

Inaction is not for them. If they find no scope for doing something good, they will be up doing something bad. If they cannot live profitably, they will be living unprofitably. They just cannot be idle.

"As a rule", says Cheire, "they right themselves when nearly capsized, and generally get out of the most difficult situations at the last moment."

Great Humanitarians

They are great humanitarians with great plans for humanity. They have clear ideas in business and politics. They are good fighters for noble causes and crusades. Their arguments are often unanswerable. They make good organizers and often great generals but they detest bloodshed.

They have great reputation as peacemakers and excel in settling other people's quarrels. They often bring enemies together to shake hands.

In the West the sign is symbolically represented by an archer. In the East, it is represented by a half-horse half-man, shooting an arrow from a bow.

Fearless, Foeless

People born in this part of the year naturally practice the dictum of Guru Nanak's opening mantram of Japji, "Nir bhay, nir vair". (without fear, without foe). These people are both fearless and foeless. They fear no foe. No foe fears them too!

They are fearless and foeless because they are fair-minded in whatever they undertake. They are decisive in their judgements. They are outspoken in their views. They do not hide what they think and they hide nothing.

Great Workers of the Earth

They are great workers of the earth. They never seem to tire. They wear themselves out for the sake of their plans and programmes. Often they drop down with sheer fatigue.

They work the hardest when they enjoy implicit confidence or their employers, family and friends. Even distrust makes them bitter but does not drive them out of their determined paths. They work even when they are sad and sullen. Work is their creed.

"Brutally truthful, they resent deception, and unmask any attempt to deceive others even when such action is against their own interests."

The ideals of their life are extremely high but they shirk individual responsibilities and believe in social remedies for many ills of mankind.

Professions

They are great business enterprisers but do not specialize in any particular line. They shift easily from one profitable trade to another. Little wonder, their professions range from clergymen and pundits to stock-brokers. They make good professors as well as secretaries in business houses.

The Sagittarius women, when they achieve success in a particular profession or trade nevertheless do not mind shifting to another line if it offers better opportunities. Little wonder, many of them are eaten up with selfish ambition.

They enjoy music more when they get it from the instruments paid for by them.

work efficiently under the restraint of others.

Ideas and Ideals

They have conventional ideas of love, duty and social status. Besides intrinsic ability they lay too much stress on extrinsic appearances. They are so good and honest that they cannot tolerate sadness or ugliness in their surroundings. They will go to any length to help others, forgetting their own comfort and welfare.

Their religion is of the heart but they do not spurn orthodoxy. They do not make a public display of their private feelings. They put up with a lot of inconveniences which they could easily get rid of, if only they did not mind displeasing others. Sometimes they do spark off in emotional bonfires but compromise easily and soon forget everything, even to ask pardon of the man who is responsible for the flare-up!

Call a Spade a Spade

They are plain speakers and call a spade a spade. Hypocrisy is foreign to their nature and nurture. When they explain a point, they hit the nail straight on the head. They go direct to the point in the plainest language. Flowery words and round-about phrases do not come home to them.

Sense of Responsibility

Any kind of responsibility sits heavy on their minds. Often they feel a sense of responsibility too keenly and worry themselves into bad health. When they work, they work for eternity, failing to co-relate it with the material advantages it might bring. So they give their employers more than they are honestly expected to do.

They lack self-confidence and if they are not appreciated, they lose their own self-confidence. Hence their work suffers. The quality of work falls with the fall in appreciation. Monetary reward is only a secondary consideration for them.

The Golden Mean

The Capricorn people love the Golden mean. They never go to the extremes. They are seldom fanatical about anything. They make good sons, husbands, friends and brothers. Capricorn girls are devoted daughters, sisters and wives.

The Capricorn people never let personal feelings interfere with their social requirements. They suppress themselves for public decency and decorum. They loathe to make a nuisance of themselves even in just causes. They will jettison an unpopular plan instead of pursuing it in the teeth of opposition.

When the call of God, patriotism, religion or higher conscience comes, they do not shirk at anything. They often like lions rise to the great occasions. If the call does not come, they just lazy about and waste their perfume in the desert air.

PIOUS PISCES PEOPLE

The Zodiacal sign of Pisces is known as Meena in Hindu Astrology. The Lord of the house is Guru or Jupiter. It exercises a great astral influence on the lives of those men and women who are born on or between February 19th and March 20th.

Intuitive Instinct

The Pisces people have great intuitive knowledge of beings and things. They can see deeper and higher than most of us. This inner knowledge of the world they do not obtain from study.

Their knowledge extends to the study of foreign lands, their history and culture, research, philosophy, religion and all other spiritual subjects.

Money Matters

They are generous by nature but careless about money matters. They are not penny-wise and pound-foolish. They are pound-wise and penny-foolish. They are often anxious about money matters. They are worried about their career and position in life.

This state of mind is due "their dislike and dread of being dependent on others more than from any love of money." This quality is often misunderstood. They are wrongly considered "close in money matters when in reality they are not."

Ambition and Aspiration

The Pisces people are men and women of ambition and aspiration. They are mentally higher than others. They will not risk public notice of their achievements until they have reached perfection.

They are sensitive souls, inclined to brood and to melancholy. They often become martyrs of their own actions and misconceptions. They have great fidelity and loyalty. When betrayed, or distrusted they take it very badly and droop like fish. They swim only while the water of ambition, aspiration and appreciation is there to buoy them up.

Professions

Many writers, poets, musicians and artists are born in this period; but they need great encouragement for the flowerage of their genius. They also make good teachers and professors provided the necessary stimulus is available to bring-forth the best and the brightest out of them.

They are successful in any cause or career they take up, provided they are trusted and given full play to their imagination and intuition, because they see more with the inner vision than with outer eyes. They go further than you see. They do more than you can know. Like Emerson's great men, "they work while others sleep".

Law of Love

Theirs is the law of love rather than the love of law. They are great respectors of law and order but have no faith in petty legalistic technicalities. However, they uphold the conventions of the social order.

They love luxury and likely to be given up to self-indulgence and gratification of the sexual pleasures unless they hold themselves away and off by means of will-power and education, self-discipline and training.

Rise to the Occasion

The Pisces people never fail to rise to the occasion when the time and tide demands of them. When they find some purpose worth living for, they bring forth their brightest best. They are highly emotional and it is easier to appeal to their hearts than their heads.

In emergency they can throw off any weakness and self-indulgence as Babar did in his campaign against Rana Sangha.

Aries Husband

The Aries Husband is passionate and adventurous in his love affairs. He is energetic in love and forceful in romance. He shows his affection with flowers and gifts and entertainment. He wants his wife to shine in the home. He discourages rivals with his complete assurance. He is usually good-looking and neat in appearance. He makes an interesting husband and there are few dull moments in his life.

He likes children and family. At heart he is always truthful. Children find him a great fun. He enjoys practical jokes. He wants his wife to impress his friends with beauty and ability. He throws all his time and energy into winning the woman he loves and usually he succeeds.

The Taurus Husband

The Taurus husband is easy-going and pleasant. He is slow to make a decision. He takes his time in choosing his sweetheart. He is inclined to have many romances before selecting his wife. But he is a good and solid man, even-tempered and easy-going.

Once a woman gets him, she can be fairly sure of all the material blessings. His affections are deep. He takes time in making up his mind about the woman he wants to marry. He wants to be sure that she will be worthy of him and return the affections he will lavish on her.

The Taurus Man is not impulsive in affairs of the heart. He is cold and calculating. He is a bit leery of feminine wiles. But once he is certain of his ideal, he spares no efforts to win the woman of his heart.

He searches for inner qualities in the woman he wants to marry. He is not easily deceived by surface appearances. He is inclined to view his wife as a business asset who can make or break him. Although slow in his actions, the Taurus man is passionate in sex. Little things do not bother him. He is not much of a talker. He is placid and mild. He is not easily angered. But his temper once aroused, tends to be violent.

His family and his children are his dearest possessions. He works hard for making money to support them. He is a good provider. He gets great pleasure from food and entertaining. He likes the material comforts. He is liable to be strict with his children. He wants to lead a dignified life. He is a capable and conscientious parent.

The Gemini Husband

The ruler of the Gemini Man is the changeable Mercury. He has a restless nature. He is easily bored. Always in search of novelty, he is a good deal of a flirt. He longs for lasting love, but seldom stays long enough with one heart to get it. He makes friends quickly and easily. He may lose them as easily because of his sharp tongue and sharper pen.

But nevertheless, he is much sought after by woman. He is a man of quick wit and charm. He knows how to pay the little attentions that make a woman believe that she is terribly important to him. He is slow to marry. He is not inclined to devote himself to one attachment or one emotional experience. For him variety is the spice of life. He is the life of any party. He peeps up any gathering round him.

In love he is gentle and sympathetic. This is natural to him. This is not the result of any calculated effort. His love inclines to mental lines. He is attracted by a quick response to his ideas. The dual nature of Gemini, the Twins, makes him mildly affectionate at times and passionately romantic at others. He is capable of constancy. He is loyal and sincere. He can fall very deeply in love once the right woman comes along.

In marriage he seeks adventure and excitement. If he does not get it in a marriage, he may get it in a hobby. He may become so interested in an intellectual pursuit that he ceases to be a close companion. But he is easy to get along with and almost always interesting. He is not very paternal towards children but he likes them and tries to make their life as happy as possible.

The Cancer Husband

The Cancer Man, whose ruler is Moon, requires mothering. He likes to be pampered. He is a strongly maternal nature. The home is an extremely important item in his life. He is very domestic and provides well for his family.

His feelings are deep and quiet, for Cancer is a water sign. Often he seeks in a wife the same traits that his mother has or had. His memory of her cooking should be a guide to his wife in the matter of his tastes. Love is based on the subconscious memory of his past and very difficult to define. Once he really falls in love, his feelings and imaginations come into play.

He may need to withdraw into himself every now and then. He has to renew confidence in himself. But he is very adaptable. Good personalities can exert a very great influence on him. Having a possessive nature, he can be extremely jealous. Although very much influenced by those he loves, when differences arise, he can be very stubborn.

Without love, life is very dull for the Cancer Man. His need for someone to care for is great and his affection deep. He is self sacrificing for those he loves. He often gives the impression of being restless, changeable and fickle. His standards are high. He must find the one to measure up his ideal. This is likely to delay his marriage.

He is careful in choosing his loved one. But once he makes his choice; his affection never falters. He may play hard to get once the right one comes along, but thereafter she is easy to keep. For him marriage is an opportunity to settle down. Home and family are very important for him. He needs home and family to make his life complete and happy. Home also spells security for him.

He may be a fussy and exacting husband, but he is also warm and affectionate. His protective nature makes him willing to accept the responsibilities of children. He is interested in their education and every thing that will give them a happy and secure life. Although he gives up his leisure in favour of his duty to his children, he is well repaid through their devotion.

The Leo Husband

Sun is the ruler of the Leo Husband. He makes the girl of his choice to think that he is the most important person in her life. And he is sincere. He can be fiery and passionate. He is compelling, masterful and very absorbing. He can be carried away by love. He is inclined to fall for beauty and glamour. He has little thought for the inner woman.

He is inclined to be sentimental and romantic at heart. Not being flirtatious, he takes his love affairs very seriously. He does not like demonstrations of affection, especially in public. It does not seem dignified to him. His self esteem is great. But he is dependent on love and very loyal to the woman he loves. In his eyes she can do no wrong.

He is attractive to the opposite sex. He is usually the centre of activity in any crowd. His wife need not be jealous. He only need the limelight to bring out the best in him. He likes his romances to be gay and filled with parties. He takes great pleasure in showing off the girl who loves him.

Because he wants his wife and children to be respected, he provides them with the best of everything. He gives himself completely to the object of his affection. There are no halfway measures. He is not always an easy husband to live with. But his charm and affection are compensating factors.

Once his wife takes the trouble to understand him, it will prove well worth her time and trouble. He feels that his wife and children must be as important to others as they are to him. Conscious of social factors, he must have a wife he can display. He likes to be the centre of attention and controls the household. Extremely loving and devoted, he also demands respect from those he loves.

His dignity can be injured easily. It makes him a bit peevish at times. He has pretty fixed ideas of what is his due. He is inclined to gamble and indulge in outside affairs. But he is jealous of his wife. She must be above suspicion. If his romance is shattered, he is a completely disillusioned man.

The Leo husband enjoys his home and is fond of children. They mean a great deal to him. He may exert too much authority over them so that their personalities do not develop freely. However, there is a strong bond of affection between him and his children.

The Virgo Husband

The ruler of the Virgo Husband is Mercury. It is not of the romantic type. Somewhat inhibited, he finds it hard to let himself go. He is a man of analytical nature prone to see the faults of the woman who enters his life. Also he is too practical to see the good of glamorous love affairs.

His indifference and stand-offish manners make him very attractive to women. He can be a lover and friend combined. His desire to serve others makes him a magnetic personality. Mental qualities interest him. He enjoys companions who can discuss literature or join him in his intellectual pursuits.

He seeks perfection. He has difficult time in finding the woman who will meet his ideal. It is difficult for him to overlook small faults. He does not admit that he needs romance. His intellectual companionship is dominating, and even domineering.

He appears ashamed of emotions. So he is never demonstrative in love. He does not hold hands at the movies. He does not kiss his wife goodbye in the morning. He is very reserved and introspective. He does not like his wife to pry into his personal affairs. He is really very affectionate. He is not the sort that finds love at first sight. He will choose his wife the same way he makes an investment.

His gifts are likely to be useful. He provides entertainment along intellectual lines. Work and service are important in his scheme of life. Quite often he works too hard for too little. In marriage he is faithful. He is always thinking of what is best for his wife and children. He fills their needs. He often tends to forget the luxuries and fun side of life.

He may be a diet faddist. He is interested in food for its nourishing quality. He is loyal and adaptable. He can be easily influenced through argument. He hates domestic discord and avoids dispute of any kind. He is not an inspiring husband. He can be too critical and fussy. He often has trouble making decisions. He accepts domesticity because it is a part of the social scheme.

THE HOROSCOPE OF YOUR HUSBAND

The Libra Husband

The Libra Husband, whose ruler is Venus, is one of the most interesting lovers. He is affectionate, considerate, tender and gentle. He enjoys pleasant company. His romances are many and rainbow-hued. Thus he is quite often fickle and unstable. His passion is likely to burn red-hot and die out quickly.

He can be extremely sentimental. There is much in his make-up that appeals to women. He possesses a great deal of charm. Though he is constant in his devotion, he is tactful in switching his affections. He is an ardent personality. He hates to be alone. He must have companionship in work and play. In play it must be a woman. He knows how to woo and win a woman. He uses his intellect to keep her company.

Libra is the natural sign of the house of marriage. The man born under it is quite likely to marry early. There may be some form of interference in his marriage, such as the external triangle beyond his control. He is in love with love. He is the ardent nature; but he respects tradition. His marriage is of traditional character.

He is cheerful, companionate and compassionate. He is inclined to lead an ordered and wise life. He has great ability to guide his home. He has great care for his family interests. He provides well for his family. With the intensity of a woman he feels the need for elegance and luxury in the home. He remembers birthdays and anniversaries. He continues to bring gifts after marriage.

He makes a fine escort. He is an agreeable companion about the house. Love is a high art to the Libra husband. His passion can be overwhelming. He can rise to great heights in love. If he does not get the response he needs, he is deeply disappointed.

Although his children are a few, they are a credit to him and afford much satisfaction in his old age. He likes pleasure and is fond of playing with his children. They are also obedient and faithful to him.

The Scorpio Husband

The Scorpio Husband, whose god is Mars, is the epitome of love. He is sincere, intense and devoted. He is dynamic in his wooing. Love is the breath of life to him. He thrives on compliments and appreciations. Criticism makes him moody and disagreeable. There is no limit to the trouble he would take to make his beloved feel comfortable, happy and secure.

His emotions are too intense for flirtation. He demands complete reciprocation in his love making. He is proud, but has warm generous nature. He is inclined to be possessive and can be intensely jealous. He likes demonstration of affection. He tends to be mistrustful, exacting and superstitious. It may be quite difficult to understand him, because he is quite secretive about his personal life.

The Scorpio husband has a genuine respect for his wife and children. His wife will always feel protected and secure. As a parent he has good intentions, but he is likely to be severe. He usually has a large family. Usually he is a successful man. He puts his energy for obtaining the best of everything for his family. He is a husband, a lover, and a companion all combined.

The Sagittarius Husband

The Sagittarius Husband, whose ruler is Jupiter, is an adventurer. Love is also one of his adventures. His is wary of marriage and difficult to capture. But he often marries young. He affectionate and sympathetic nature is not possessive. He allows the same freedom to others he desires for himself. He is very loyal to those he loves. He needs mental as well as physical satisfaction.

His sense of fun enters into his love-making so that it becomes an exciting and happy game. His approach to love is healthy and normal. He may pass through a stage of experimentation. Finally he settles down to a strong attraction.

A hail-fellow well-met, he has a host of friends both men and women. He makes every attempt to make his wife and children happy, but his other interests often interfere in his plans. He is not the jealous type because he cannot afford to risk his own freedom.

The spirit of fun is strong in the son of Jupiter. He may say things for a laugh that hurt but he does not intend harm. He is usually good-hearted. He is generous and good-natured. It is a fun to be with him. When he chooses a partner, he does so with deliberation. He is direct and positive. He dislikes frustration of any kind. He is frank and open about his affairs and himself.

In marriage he is a cheerful and happy companion. He is ready to enter into any plan that promises fun and entertainment. He gives all his love to his wife. His gambling can be a worry because he is inclined to risk too much.

He requires a wise and tactful wife. He has much to give if handled in a tactful way. He loves humanity and is respected by the community. All his energy goes into life in general. By comparison his personal life becomes unimportant. His wife has to be broadminded and quite impersonal if she wishes to hold his interests. He is invariably a gifted man. It is a pleasure to share his life, and his love.

The Capricorn Husband

The ruler of the Capricorn Husband is Saturn. So he is not the romantic sort. But this does not mean that he has no feeling. Instead of emotional, his approach to love making is intellectual. He is very careful always to do what is correct.

The Capricorn Husband is extremely conscious of his wife's feelings. He does not give way to a spurt of affection. He wants to be sure of his wife's feelings first. He can be extremely passionate without much affection. He is very sincere once he has chosen his partner.

His career usually comes first with him. He is not inclined to let himself go with anyone. It takes him long to make up his mind about anything. He is inclined to be secretive and will not reveal his inner feelings. He finds love difficult to define. He ranks it second to other considerations. But he will look for some one to love and be loved by. He takes life seriously. If misunderstood or offended, he becomes aloof and withdraws within his shell of silence.

Although he may take some time to find what he is looking for, he is pretty certain of obtaining it. Faithful in love and unchanging in his affections, he is capable of making great sacrifices for his loved ones. The care he exercises in choosing his beloved delays marriage for him, so that he is often somewhat older than his wife.

He is too idealistic in life and often feels depressed. His ambition alone carries him. He is the most ambitious of the Zodiac. He attaches great importance to dignity and respectability of marriage. It plays a large part in his ambitions and plans for the future. In spite of his reserve, he needs love and companionship.

He is likely to be very devoted and dependent on her. He is a man of the hard routine of life but he does have softer moods. He is an agreeable person, enjoying a happy and successful marriage. He is fond of children. He will cherish his offspring. He never underestimates their feelings or intelligence. He knows what is best for them. He never overlooks their need for fun or affection.

The Aquarius Husband

The ruler of this man is Uranus. He has such a compelling interest in humanity that it is hard for him to love one woman. But he is captivating as a lover. Witty and full of laughter, he has the ability to make the woman of his choice happy and contented.

Equipped with a high sense of personal liberty, he is disinclined to deny it to others. He is inclined to seek some mutual mental interest in his beloved. When he finds such a woman, he is faithful to her for ever. He seeks as his ideal a woman who is equal to him in intelligence, emotions and companionship.

He is generally not overly affectionate. He may seem quite cold. He will demand a large measure of personal liberty and seclusion in his marriage. With the marriage ceremony he will not relinquish his personal freedom and the right to do as he pleases. But beneath his urge for a free spirit lies a strongly affectionate nature. Although he may not show it, he is sensitive. He can be led but never driven.

He will be ruled by his heart rather than his head. Attractive to the opposite sex, he can make life happy and beautiful for the right woman. As a husband he is kind and considerate. He is a perfect gentleman in every way. He treats his wife and children with the same courtesy as he shows to others. He has no urge to dominate. His impersonal interest may be mistaken for his lack of love, which is not indeed the case.

Often his marriage follows a long friendship. He accepts the institution of marriage but he is, not an ardent lover. Kind and generous, he has an open spirit. He is easy to get along with in the house. He does not interfere in the domestic matters. He will do all he can to co-operate. He seldom argues over small matters.

His treatment of children gives them confidence and brings out their brightest best. He seems to have an affinity with children. There is something strangely childlike about him when he is with them. He has a supply of games and stories. But he will stand no nonsense in the house. He expects good behaviour and discipline from them.

The Pisces Husband

The ruler of this man is Neptune. He has the most sensitive and romantic nature. He dislikes meanness and petty-mindedness. With standards set high, he looks for a woman careful of her appearance. She must be intelligent and possess some artistic skill. He expects too much perfection.

His will power and ability to make up his mind are often weak. He may not know just what he wants out of his romance. He needs much assurance of his sweetheart's feelings and affection. He must have plenty of flattery and compliments. His feelings are much too easily hurt.

Sometimes he is a dreamer possessed of soaring ideals and aspirations. He needs the right woman to materialize them. Without love, life is empty for him. He seldom possesses a very strong character. Often he lives on thoughts and feelings of those around him. That is why it is extremely important that he should select the right partner in life.

He is capable of deep feeling and emotion. Once his love is given, it is everlasting. There is danger of his being misled by a woman of stronger will. He is too easily influenced by others. His moods may cause his beloved to feel uncertain of his feelings. He may appear cold and aloof. But he is warm and affectionate.

HINDU ASTROLOGY

What is Hindu Astrology? It is an important Anga of Veda. Anga means part. What is Veda? Veda means knowledge—"knowledge", says K.R.Veeraragava Iyer, "means 'know' plus 'ledger'." Ledger means Astronomy which begins from numbers and Number One visible figure is the Sun in the heaven. The Sun is the light of the three world : (1) Past (2) Present (3) Future.

"What is light? Light is Veda. (I) Light clears darkness. It is Rig-Veda, (II) The surrounding material substances from the light are yagna sadhanas. It is Yajur Veda. (III) There is sound in the light. It is Sama Veda. (The radio-box cannot produce sound without light). (IV) When you touch the light, it causes burn or harm, it is Atharvana Veda. So the four Vedas exist in the light."

Light of Astrology

Light in Hindu Astrology consists of Eight elements : Earth, Water, Fire, Air, Aakas or ether, Life, Moon and Sun.

Light diffuses in eight primary directions : East, South-East, South, South-West, West, North-West, North and North-East.

Light is the beginning and the end of life. Astrology, from birth to death begins from lagna number Bhava Number 1 to death bhave 8.

It is also to be noted that the life-giving aspect of the Hindu God, Vishnu is called Om-na-mo-na-ra-ya-na-ya. It also consists of eight letters.

Fire of Astrology

Fire is the representative of the Sun and Moon on earth. Fire is our Karma Swarupa. Karma is action and Swarupa is form. We are thoroughly controlled by Sun, Moon and Fire. Without their help we cannot see anything. Without their help we cannot do anything.

Fire burns only while it consumes something otherwise it is extinguished. So from fire we have come to know the beginning of charity in our country.

Whatever is given to fire in the form of yagna, it is carried away to the Sun. In return we get rain. From water food is produced. So food is our God.

So Fire-Worship is not the mere worship of the incandescent carbon particles in a flame but highly symbolical astronomical fact of nature.

Light on Astrology

Sanskrit is not a dead language. It is the language of the gods. It is an ever-living language. It determines the quintessence of all actions.

Astrology is not a dead science. It is a living intelligence, moving in changeless order guided by perfect wisdom and unswerving will.

Astrology is a living occult science of spiritual wisdom expressing the material universe in the lowest form.

Astrology proves the effects and defects of karmic actions at such and such time. It is the time-keeper, watching the movements of the universe. Inauspicious times will cause bad results and auspicious times will end in good results.

Astrology dictates that all evils can be averted by certain oblations in fire with Vedic Mantras in Sanskrit and in return good results achieved.

To attain freedom man is guided by astrology, the science of sciences which has been practised by the great seers and yogis learned in the godly language of Sanskrit. It is perfected in Punya Bhumi since the beginning of creation when other nations had not existed.

Horoscope and Prasna

Horoscope indicates whether a person enjoys or suffers from the results of his past actions.

Prasna indicates the results of the present karmas or actions:

When the results of Horoscope and prasna agree, it shows that the person is enjoying or suffering because of the past actions.

When the results of horoscope and prasna disagree, it shows that the person is enjoying or suffering from the results of present actions.

Astrological Address

Give any number. Divide it by 12. The remainder number is the lagna. If there is no remainder, then No. 12 is Meena (Pisces) is the number.

Thus :

1. Aries (Mesha)
2. Taurus (Vrishaba)
3. Gemini (Mithuna)
4. Cancer (Karkitaka)
5. Leo (Simha)
6. Virgo (Kanya)
7. Libra (Thula)
8. Scorpio (Vrishchika)
9. Sagittarius (Dhanus)
10. Capricorn (Makara)
11. Aquarius (Kumbha)
12. Pisces (Meena)

Suppose 101 is the number given by a person at random. Divide it by 12. The remainder is 5.

Fifth house is Leo. See his qualities under LEO Chapter Eleven).

This method is useful when you are predicting the future of a person who is not sure of his birthdate or does not want to tell it, as some ladies might well be inclined to hide their age or may not like to divulge it to their friends or even the astrologer.

Astrological Strength

The astrological strength of a person for accomplishing a certain work depends on the following factors :-

- I. Lagnuna Bala—momentary strength.
- II. Sudhina—Auspicious Days
- III. Tara Bala—Auspicious stars.
- IV. Chandrabala—Waxing Moon.
- V. Vidya Bala—Knowledge of the shastras.
- VI. Deve Bala—the favour of the planets.

Astral Health

Different planets exercise influence on different parts of the body :-

Planet	Part of the Body	Elements
Sun	Stomach, Heart, Eyes, and Bones.	Fire
Moon	Breast, Lungs, Blood Vessels and Bowels.	Water

Mars	Head, Eyes, Heart & Marrow.	Fire
Mercury	Neck, Tongue, Voice, Nose, and Skin.	Earth
Jupiter	Thighs, Sound, Ears, Sky Intellect, Fat.
Venus	Face, Sexual Organs, Taste, Semen, Waters and Parts of body.	Water
Saturn	Knees, Nerves, Mind, Joints, Feet, Excretory organs.	Air

Hence when malefic planets afflict the Lagna, the nature of disease can be easily discovered on careful examination of the constellation.

Causes of Lunacy

The following are the causes of Unmada Yoga or mental troubles in Hindu Astrology :-

- i. Untimely meals.
- ii. Impure food.
- iii. Excessive fasting.
- iv. Fear.
- v. Anger without reason.
- vi. Unexpected hatred towards everyday things.
- vii. Enemy's curse.
- viii. Contemptuous behaviour towards parents.
- ix. Abuse of fire and fire-worship.

x. Contempt of heavenly beings.

The Horoscope

The word horoscope means "moment of time." In its strict sense it refers to the star or point of the celestial sphere appearing just above the eastern horizon, or as it is technically called "on the ascendant", at any given moment—such as the moment of birth, marriage, disease, accident, death etc.

At the horoscopic moment the planetary and stellar forces are producing a certain note, as it were, a note of a certain definite pitch, intensity, and quality. This planetary note is impressed on the child at the time of its birth, as the sound of an orchestra may in an instant be transmitted by the stylus of a phonograph to the sensitive wax receiver with every single note and every shade and quality of tone intact. It is this which is called a horoscope.

In Hindu astrology time is reckoned in the first instance from Lanka or sunrise. Corrections are then applied so as to arrive at the time reckoned from local sunrise. Lanka is an imaginary island supposed to be situated on the equator on the meridian of Ujjain, the Indian Greenwich.

Closely connected with the calculation of Sun, is the lagna, that is, the portion of the ecliptic which appears at the eastern horizon at a particular moment of the day when particular portion of the ecliptic will be lagna.

After sunrise, the other 11 rasis rise gradually according to local time and thus the 12 signs from Sun rise and set daily in 24 hours within a circle of 360 degrees.

After finding lagna, note the Sun's longitude from the Almanac. In the local Almanac, Sun represents Indian solar months and date is approximate degree in the sign occupied by the Sun at the time of the consideration.

Orders of signs of Zodiac or rasis and longitude of commencement of each sign or rasis and their names are from Mesha to Meena (Aries to Pisces).

Indian and European Astrology

"The longitudes of the rasis", says K.R.Veeraragava Iyer in The Essence of Indian Astrology are reckoned in Indian astronomy from a fixed point in the heavens, whereas in European astronomy, the 0 degree of longitude is reckoned from the meeting point (which is liable to variation from year to year) of the celestial equator and the ecliptic.

"In European astronomy this meeting point is conventionally called the 1st point of Aries (Mesha) but it is not now in the constellation of Aries, because every year, owing to the procession of equinoxes, the 1st point of Aries moves back 50 seconds of an arc along the ecliptic.

"About A.D. 532 the 1st point of Aries of European Astronomy was identical with the 0 degree longitude of Indian Astronomy, but since then the former has receded every year, till now there is a difference of 23 degrees between 1st point of Aries (European Astronomy) and the 0 degree longitude of Indian Astronomy.

"For instance the planet Mars is said to be 20 degrees in Tula, the meaning is that the longitude of Mars, is according to Indian astronomy, 180 degrees plus 20 degrees which equals to 200 degrees."

Meeting Point

The week day is the meeting ground of the Indian and European calendars, and whatever date we may be engaged in investigating, it is generally useful to and almost invariably indispensable, to know which was the week-day of that date. This information has to be found out as quickly as possible, but at the same time accurate.

The lengths of the sidereal year in Indian and Modern Astronomy are compared as follows :-

Surya Sidharata—365 days, 12 minutes 36.56 seconds.

Modern Astronomy—356 days, 9 minutes, 9.60 seconds.

Indian Solar Year

The moment, when the sun enters a rasi, when his longitude is 0, 30, 60 degrees, etc., is called a Sankaranti or a Sankaramana. The first Sankaranti is the most important of all, being the beginning of the Indian Solar Year.

In the European civil calendar the year begins at midnight between the 31st December and the 1st

January and each month has a fixed number of days 31,30,29 or 28 as the case may be.

The Indian calendar may begin at any moment of the day. This moment reckons to decimals of a day. In the same manner each month may begin at any moment of the day and the duration of a month cannot be expressed as a whole number of days, but can only be stated as so many days and a fraction.

Strength of Planets

1. Sani (Saturn).
2. Kuja (Mars) is stronger than Sani.

Good and Evil Planets

Planets are good or evil as their influences are favourable or unfavourable to an individual.

Good planets are Jupiter, Venus, Mercury, and Full Moon.

Evil planets are Sun, New Moon, Mercury in conjunction with evil planets, Mars Saturn, Rahu and Ketu.

Mercury by nature is a good planet, but becomes evil when in conjunction with evil planets.

A weak moon is malefic. This malefic is due to its weakness or waning.

The Sun is malefic because of its heat.

Mars is malefic due to heat and tamasic temperament.

Saturn is malefic because of its tamasic qualities and miserableness.

Rahu and Ketu are naturally dark planets, hence malefic.

When evil Planets are strong and occupy good houses with the aspects of conjunction with good grahas, they are benefic.

When Good Planets are weak and occupy evil houses with the aspects of sinful grahas or a conjunction with them, they are malefic, and they have potency to do more harm.

Rising Rasis

Prishtodaya Rasis :

1. Mesha (Aries)
2. Vrishabha (Scorpio)
3. Kataka (Cancer)
4. Dhanus (Sagittarius)
5. Makara (Capricorn)

Sirshodaya Rasis :

1. Mithuna (Gemini)
2. Simha (Leo)
3. Kanya (Virgo)
4. Thula (Libra)
5. Vrishchiga (Scorpio)
6. Kumbha (Aquarius)

Ubhayodaya Rasis

Meena (Pisces)

Differences : Sirshodaya Rasis rise with head.
Rishtodaya Rasis rise with feet.
Ubhayodaya Rasis rises with both.

The above are very useful to find out whether success will be in the beginning or at the end or at both the places.

Gender of Planets

Sun, Guru (Jupiter) and Mars are masculine planets.

Sukra (Venus), Chandra (Moon) and Kuja (Mars) occupying a feminine sign are feminine planets.

The Sun and Moon are kings ; Mars is the commander-in-chief ; Mercury is the heir apparent ; Jupiter and Venus are ministers and Saturn is their servant.

The effects of these qualities will reveal themselves during the dasa periods of the planets concerned.

In saying that the Sun and the Moon are sovereigns, it must be understood that the Sun is the King and the Moon is the Queen.

Venus and Jupiter are Brahmins ; Mars and the Sun are Kshatriyas, The Moon is a Vaisya, Mercury is the lord of the Sudra community. Saturn is the leader of the outcastes. The castes of these planets will differ according to their strength and occupation of signs.

Qualities of Planets

The Moon, the Sun and the Jupiter are planets typifying Satva, Purity, Goodness. Mercury and Venus are essentially planets of passion, Mars and Saturn are tamasic or have darkness as their distinguishing character.

A shrine, a watery place, a fire-place, a pleasure ground, a treasury, a bed-chamber and a heap of rubbish are to be assigned as the places of the planets from the Sun onwards.

The articles of apparel appropriate for the Sun and other planets are a thick cloth, a new fine robe, one signed by fire, a cloth washed in water, an ordinary garment, a durable dress, and a rag respectively.

The substances ascribed to the planets from the Sun onwards are copper, gems, gold alloy of metals, silver, pearls and iron.
